One musician is capable of so much.

But an orchestra – with 80, 90, 100 musicians striving and urging and pushing as one – sounds like so much more.

It sounds like power. Like inspiration. It is a sound that surrounds you, lifts
you and stays with you.

Our 2026 Season is full of music that is bold, moving and unforgettable.
Each concert is extraordinary on its own – but together, these countless moods and feelings combine to create sounds that will reverberate in you long after the final note is played.

WELCOME TO OUR 2026 SEASON

In our modern world, everything seems fleeting and impermanent.

Which is why music – and especially live performance – remains so vital to the human condition. Nothing can replicate the feeling of being in the Sydney Opera House Concert Hall with these extraordinary sounds surrounding you; nothing compares to the emotional journey music takes you on, inspiring feelings you didn't even know you had.

Where everything else is shallow, live music offers depth.

In 2026, the Sydney Symphony Orchestra gives you total immersion in the most beautiful music ever written and rich, fulfilling experiences with the great artists of our time.

We begin our year with The Song of the Earth, Mahler's moving meditation on life and death, and finish with the cataclysmic conclusion to Wagner's Ring Cycle: Götterdämmerung, the Twilight of the Gods.

We welcome some of the world's greatest musicians to Sydney, including Jean-Yves Thibaudet, Leonidas Kavakos, Gil Shaham, Sheku Kanneh-Mason, Yeol Eum Son, Isata Kanneh-Mason and Sir Bryn Terfel; conducting colleagues including David Robertson, Stéphane Denève, André de Ridder, Anja Bihlmaier and Nicholas Carter, and of course our titled conductors Sir Donald Runnicles and Benjamin Northey.

You will discover even more aspects to the artistry of major artists Bryn Terfel, Håkan Hardenberger, Bryce Dessner and Anna Lapwood, as they join us for mainstage orchestral concerts as well as solo recitals, masterclasses and chamber orchestra performances.

We take you deeper into the music than ever before through our reimagined Learning & Engagement programs, featuring open rehearsals, relaxed performances, a new concert series starring our Sydney Symphony Fellows and a Schools Program that will touch the lives of over 15,000 students across NSW.

And in my fifth season as Chief Conductor, a year in which I also mark 30 years since my Sydney Symphony debut, I am excited for the continued deepening and strengthening of this most fulfilling artistic partnership.

This is a season of tremendous richness, performed by an orchestra the equal of any in the world. I hope you will join us.

THE ARTISTRY OF SIMONE YOUNG

In her fifth season as our Chief Conductor, Simone Young deepens your connection with composers and themes that have defined her tenure in Sydney.

We open our Season with Mahler's towering The Song of the Earth (p.17) and continue our exploration of Vaughan Williams' symphonies (p.17) and Beethoven's piano concertos (p.26) with Javier Perianes, before Wagner's Ring Cycle (p.36) comes to its earth-shattering conclusion in Götterdämmerung.

Bryn Terfel/Mitch Jenkins/DG

WORLD-RENOWNED SPECIALISTS

Who would you rather leading Mozart's Requiem (p.30) than Stephen Layton? Who better to tackle Shostakovich's First Violin Concerto (p.20) than Leonidas Kavakos? Stéphane Denève (p.29) has devoted his life to the music of his French compatriots and perhaps no one alive knows Mendelssohn's Elijah (p.35) better than Sir Bryn Terfel.

Yeol Eum Son/Marco Borggreve

THE RETURN OF AUDIENCE FAVOURITES

After thrilling debuts in recent seasons, we welcome back artists that resonated with Sydney audiences.

Ying Fang's heavenly soprano stuns in Canteloube's Songs of the Auvergne (p.32), Nicolas Ellis (p.29) and Anja Bihlmaier (p.24) conduct with great insight and energy and the exquisite touch of pianist Yeol Eum Son (p.29) will light up the Concert Hall once more.

If you heard them the first time, you will want to hear them again. And if you didn't – don't make the same mistake twice...

Max Richter/Supplied

THE CUTTING EDGE OF CLASSICAL MUSIC

Co-commissioned by the Sydney Symphony Orchestra, concertos by Max Richter (p.19) and Bryce Dessner (p.31) receive their Australian premieres, performed by the soloists for whom they were written.

María Dueñas/Allan Cabral

THE BRIGHTEST YOUNG STARS

María Dueñas (p.18), Anastasia Kobekina (p.31) and Ivan Karizna (p.24) are part of a new generation of soloists making their name in the classical world.

This is your chance to experience their phenomenal talents as these stars ascend, so you can say 'I was there when...!'

Benjamin Northey

ENRICHING MUSICAL EXPERIENCES

Go beyond our concerts and dive deeper into the world of orchestral music. Join us at an open rehearsal (p.11), or come along to a masterclass to learn from one of the world's great soloists (p.11).

This summer, the Sydney Symphony brings the magic of orchestral music to the heart of our beautiful city. Across two days in February, the exquisite Sydney Town Hall comes to life with four incredible performances.

Led by British-born conductor James Judd, praised for his 'elegant and purposeful direction' (Gramophone), these concerts offer four very different ways to experience the Sydney Symphony. But common to them all is a great orchestra performing incredible music.

LUNCHTIME CLASSICS WITH THE SYDNEY SYMPHONY

For Friday the 13th we have put together a program of music that will send a shiver down your spine...

The Sydney Town Hall Grand Organ roars to life with Bach's iconic Toccata & Fugue, while Dukas' The Sorcerer's Apprentice is musical mischief in motion, tiptoeing winds, glinting glockenspiel and sudden brass jolts. And Bernard Herrmann's iconic score for Psycho shows it only takes a few notes to terrify you.

The tension is palpable in Prokofiev’s Romeo and Juliet and it explodes in the ghoulish frenzy of Berlioz’s Dream of a Witches’ Sabbath.

SIMONE YOUNG CONDUCTS MAHLER'S SONG OF THE EARTH

JEAN-YVES THIBAUDET
PERFORMS QIGANG CHEN

Simone Young's celebrated tradition of opening our season with the music of Mahler continues in 2026 with The Song of the Earth. Part symphony, part song-cycle, it will be brought to life by world-class vocalists in Simon O'Neill and Alexandra Ionis.

Vast and moving, Mahler's work is based on a German translation of Chinese poems; that thread connects Mahler to Qigang Chen's Er Huang for piano and orchestra, which draws on melodies from Peking opera. French superstar Jean-Yves Thibaudet is magnetic in this concerto that reaches 'a climax of Mahlerian dimensions' (Bachtrack).

This will be an unmissable start to the season.

SIMONE YOUNG CONDUCTS BRITTEN & VAUGHAN WILLIAMS

WITH SIMONE LAMSMA

Chief Conductor Simone Young presents a bold, emotionally charged program. Vaughan Williams' Sixth Symphony begins in fury and ends in a ghostlike hush. Britten's Violin Concerto, written at the brink of war, is both unsettling and deeply expressive, brought to vivid life by 'brilliant' (New York Times) Dutch violinist Simone Lamsma.

Sculthorpe's Sun Music III is a uniquely Australian composition, with shimmering textures that evoke ancient ritual and vast landscapes. One of the works that Simone Young conducted in her Sydney Symphony debut 30 years ago, this is a moment to celebrate our deep and rich musical connection with our Chief Conductor.

A UNIVERSE OF SOUND

Anna Lapwood's immense talents have inspired new music for the organ, and in this concert she performs two Australian premieres of new works written for her – Max Richter's Cosmology and Kristina Arakelyan's Toccata.

Richter's music comes directly from the heart; his compositions feel both vast and intimately personal. Co-commissioned by the Sydney Symphony, his concerto for organ and choir glows with slow-building harmonies, while Arakelyan's bold Toccata is a vivid and driving work full of rhythmic fire.

Bartók's Concerto for Orchestra surges with colour and invention, weaving together unexpected instrumental combinations. Eerie nocturnes, playful twists and blazing climaxes reveal the Orchestra's astonishing range.

DONALD RUNNICLES CONDUCTS MAHLER'S SIXTH SYMPHONY

THE HAMMERBLOWS OF FATE

Mahler's Sixth is a symphony of extremes. Intimate one moment, explosive the next. The final movement features the iconic hammer blows of fate: a huge mallet, a giant wooden box. A sound so dramatic it's become a legend.

After luminous performances of Mahler's Fourth in 2023, Sir Donald Runnicles once again demonstrates his signature command of large-scale Romantic works and why he is an ideal interpreter for this emotional odyssey.

With an enormous orchestra (including musicians from the Australian National Academy of Music) and a conductor who knows exactly how to navigate the emotional terrain of this colossal score, this concert offers the kind of full-bodied impact that only comes from experiencing it live.

DONALD RUNNICLES & LEONIDAS KAVAKOS

Shostakovich's First Violin Concerto is razor sharp in its intensity. Performed by Leonidas Kavakos, a 'violinist of formidable technique' (American Record Guide), this is music that dives into uncharted emotional depths before finishing in a blaze of energy and triumph.

Tchaikovsky's Fifth is one of his most powerful creations, famous for its cyclical theme. It opens in restraint with a mournful clarinet melody, shadowed by the strings. By the time we reach the finale that tragic opening theme returns transformed, now defiant.

Principal Guest Conductor Sir Donald Runnicles seizes on the emotional charge in this music to connect two very different soundscapes.

LABYRINTHS OF TIME

Of all the instruments to lead an orchestra, the recorder is an unlikely hero. But in the hands of Genevieve Lacey, who makes it ‘speak like no one else’ (Limelight), it’s truly captivating.

Over four decades, Australia’s own recorder queen has built an extraordinary, multi-faceted career, grounded in Lacey’s artistic curiosity, her generous connection with audiences and her expressive musicianship.

This program invites you into Lacey’s fascinating musical world, accompanied by the Sydney Symphony Orchestra. The recorder takes on a series of unexpected roles in this program, from ancient storyteller to future explorer, with a sound that feels fresh and alive.

STRAVINSKY'S THE FIREBIRD

FAIRYTALES COME TO LIFE

Stravinsky's Firebird bursts off the stage in a riot of colour and sound. Opening in shadow and ending in a spellbinding blaze, very few works capture the magic of folk storytelling with such vibrant power.

Paired with Liadov's arresting, dizzying Kikimora and Shostakovich's electrifying First Cello Concerto, all three works are connected by bold musical narratives.

Conductor Andrey Boreyko brings rare fluency and understanding to this music: Bachtrack praises him as 'a commanding presence, thrilling and enthralling in equal measure'. He doesn't just interpret it, he embodies it. And brilliant cellist Maximilian Hornung makes his Sydney debut, calling on his 'stunning' intensity and 'extraordinary depth of tone' (Utah Arts Review) to deliver the emotional force of Shostakovich's concerto.

BEETHOVEN'S FIFTH SYMPHONY

WITH SCHUMANN'S CELLO CONCERTO

You know the opening. But the real thrill of Beethoven's Fifth comes from the unrelenting momentum that follows. The transition from the third movement's suspended hush into the finale is unforgettable.

Returning after a triumphant Sydney debut in 2024 'that brought the house down' (Limelight), conductor Anja Bihlmaier brings clarity and fire to this rich, century-spanning program.

Melody Eötvös' The Saqqara Bird is a modern work of drifting forms and flickering light, while Schumann's Cello Concerto is a Romantic gem of warmth and poise, performed here by rising star Ivan Karizna.

From quiet revelation to enduring power, this program serves as a reminder that music can always lift us into the light.

GIL SHAHAM PERFORMS BEETHOVEN'S VIOLIN CONCERTO

WITH DAVID ROBERTSON

Gil Shaham returns to Sydney to perform one of the most influential concertos ever written. Beethoven's Violin Concerto is majestic in scale, flowing with expansive lyricism and colossal architecture. Shaham's first visit to Sydney in over a decade offers a rare chance to hear a true master of one of the violin's defining works.

Our former Chief Conductor David Robertson returns to the Sydney Symphony Orchestra to lead Nielsen's Inextinguishable Symphony. Written during World War One, it pulses with energy and urgency, anchored by an unforgettable timpani battle.

UNFINISHED SYMPHONY

Mendelssohn's Violin Concerto in E minor captures all the sparkle of the Classical era while setting the tone for the expressive Romanticism of later masterpieces. It's thrilling to hear live and provides ample room for one of classical music's brightest young stars, the 'monstrously talented' (Philadelphia Inquirer) Benjamin Beilman, to showcase his virtuosity.

He is joined by acclaimed Norwegian conductor Tabita Berglund for a program featuring two stirring masterpieces. The breathtaking beginning to Schubert's Unfinished Symphony makes it immediately obvious why this work is still so popular today, even though incomplete. A brilliant start that blossoms into one of Schubert's most gorgeous melodies.

JAVIER PERIANES IN RECITAL

A CELEBRATION OF MANUEL DE FALLA

Javier Perianes celebrates 150 years since the birth of Manuel de Falla with a recital that brings Spanish music into sharp, lyrical focus. Nocturnes, mazurkas and waltzes by Falla are paired with complementary works by Chopin, revealing how both composers, shaped by different cultural traditions, used miniature forms to explore the deepest corners of emotion.

Then from miniature to maximalist, Perianes turns to Albéniz’s Iberia, an expressive portrait of Spain. From radiant textures and flickers of light and shadow, Perianes’ renowned fluency evokes vivid pictures of his homeland, rendered with colour and care.

TCHAIKOVSKY'S FIRST PIANO CONCERTO

WITH YEOL EUM SON

The iconic opening to Tchaikovsky's First Piano Concerto is impossible to ignore, with a thunderous entrance from the orchestra and piano chords that crash like waves.

Shostakovich's First Symphony makes an equally arresting impression. Written when he was 19, its brilliance reveals a composer already aware of his voice and how he could use it. Just like Sydney composer Justin Williams – also our Assistant Principal Viola – whose intimate knowledge of the capabilities of an orchestra shines through in his rich, melodic First Symphony.

FOUR HANDS AND TWO PIANOS

It's not often you get to hear music written for two pianos. You need two musicians so deeply connected that they know each other's every thought.

Dutch brothers Lucas and Arthur Jussen have that connection in their DNA and have been praised as 'formidable storytellers, who captivate listeners with their spellbinding craft' (Der Tagesspiegel).

This concert promises exactly that, from the poised elegance of Mozart and the lyrical Romanticism of Schubert to masterpieces by Ravel and Stravinsky arranged by the composers themselves for two pianos.

With two grand pianos nestled together on stage and two pianists playing as one, piano fans have twice as many reasons to be part of it.

VOICES THROUGH TIME

Mozart's Requiem is a work of enduring intensity, pulsing with shadow and ceremony. Acclaimed choral conductor Stephen Layton and a superb cast of Australian soloists reveal the deep emotion of a work often seen as one of Mozart's most complex and mysterious.

Layton's profound understanding of choral music shines through in this program. From the 16th century and Thomas Tallis' poignant theme that inspired Vaughan Williams' Fantasia nearly 400 years later, to the modern classic of John Rutter's Gloria with its 'exquisitely balanced vocal writing' and 'melting harmonies' (Gramophone).

This is sacred music that marches ever forward. Resonant, human and deeply alive.

MUSICAL MEMORIES OF HOME

The music that we hear as children is forever etched into our memories. Conductor Umberto Clerici conducts this richly textured program featuring music by two composers who grew up to conquer the world's concert halls but who never forgot their roots in rural areas of eastern Europe.

Dvořák's Eighth Symphony is one of the cheeriest he ever wrote, drawing on the folk music of his native Bohemia to paint a vivid depiction of his people and his homeland. György Ligeti's Concert Românesc was equally inspired by his childhood in Transylvania (now in Romania) and the village bands he heard as a child.

WITH ANASTASIA KOBEKINA & UMBERTO CLERICI

This richly textured program explores nature's enduring power, from flowing rivers and oceans to forested mountains and fields.

Drawing inspiration from nature's cycle of renewal and resilience, Bryce Dessner's Trembling Earth – written for the 'electrifying virtuosity' (BBC Music Magazine) of Anastasia Kobekina and co-commissioned by the Sydney Symphony – weaves a haunting dialogue between cello and orchestra. And Dessner will perform as soloist in his work St. Carolyn by the Sea, an evocative soundscape inspired by depictions of the Californian coast in the work of Beat writer Jack Kerouac.

Dvořák's folk-infused Symphony No.8 and Ligeti's vibrant Concert Românesc capture the musical memories from each composer's youth in rural eastern Europe.

A meeting of musical giants across time, this program traverses the Baroque and Classical eras via modern-day Sydney under the baton of Chief Conductor Simone Young.

Then we hear Mozart at his peak – mercurial and majestic. Symphony No.39 is a radiant gem, moving from slow grandeur to light, dancing rhythms in a masterclass of contrast and invention. Renowned for her interpretative insight, Simone Young brings fresh perspectives to these timeless masterworks.

MOSTLY MOZART

Mozart's music is like Shakespeare's words: often borrowed and adapted, but never losing its magic.

Viola player Rosemary Curtin has chosen a program of Mozart's work adapted by later composers, the centrepiece an arrangement of his Sinfonia Concertante, K364 for just six instruments. In this lean and spirited version, the joy and brilliance of Mozart's original shines ever brighter.

COCKTAIL HOUR WITH ALEXANDER MORRIS

HERRMANN & WEBER

Principal Bass Clarinet Alexander Morris presents two very different works that showcase the expressive range of the clarinet.

Best known for the stabbing strings of Psycho, Bernard Herrmann's Souvenirs de Voyage sounds like the soundtrack to a an epic romance, full of yearning. Weber's Quintet is a thrilling showpiece for the clarinet, revelling in the possibilities of the instrument.

COCKTAIL HOUR WITH TIMOTHY CONSTABLE

1971: IN A SILENT WAY

Percussionist Timothy Constable presents an eclectic program of music composed in 1971.

The early 70s saw a turbulent changing of the cultural guard. Music was moving in a million directions at once, like in Joe Zawinul's In a Silent Way (made famous by Miles Davis) and André Jolivet's quixotic Heptade, performed here by Constable and Principal Trumpet David Elton.

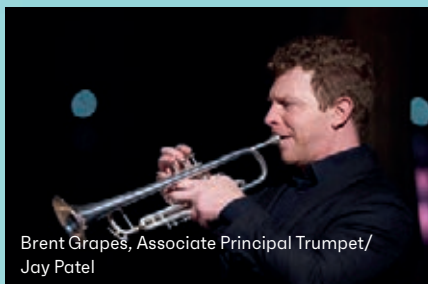

Program to include:

COCKTAIL HOUR WITH BRENT GRAPES

BRASS THROUGH THE AGES

Brass instruments have been around for thousands of years, featuring in military, religious and courtly ceremonies, marching bands, orchestra, chamber music and so much more.

That versatility is on full display in this program curated by Associate Principal Trumpet Brent Grapes, from Joan Tower's undulating, pulsing Copperwave to Giovanni Gabrieli's 16th century canzona La Spiritata.

Program to include:

GABRIELI Canzon I, La Spiritata

BÖHME Brass Sextet

Joan TOWER Copperwave

FRIDAY 28 AUGUST, 6PM

SATURDAY 29 AUGUST, 6PM

Euan Harvey, Horn/Ken Leanfore

COCKTAIL HOUR WITH EUAN HARVEY

WAGNER, STRAUSS & BRITTEN

Horn player Euan Harvey shows us that while brass instruments are often called upon for the big moments, they are also capable of delicacy and nuance.

In Richard Strauss' Capriccio, characters debate whether art, poetry or music is more important; this exquisite Sextet makes a persuasive argument for the latter, as does Wagner's heartfelt Siegfried Idyll and Britten's precocious Sinfonietta.

FRIDAY 8 MAY, 6PM

SATURDAY 9 MAY, 6PM

David Campbell, Double Bass/Georgia Griffiths

COCKTAIL HOUR WITH DAVID CAMPBELL

GOLIJOV, PIAZZOLLA & ADAMS

Double Bass player David Campbell presents a program of driving, rhythmic works from the Americas.

Ástor Piazzolla brought tango out of the slums of Argentina and into concert halls, alongside Enrique 'Kicho' Díaz. Osvaldo Golijov's Last Round was inspired by Piazzolla's fighting spirit. Further north, John Adams' Shaker Loops takes its name from the ecstatic frenzies of the Shaker religious sect.

THE SYDNEY SYMPHONY PERFORMS ORCHESTRAL FAVOURITES

Feel all the emotions that music can inspire in this concert of enchanting classical favourites. Copland’s Appalachian Spring and Falla’s The Three-Cornered Hat pulse with energy and drive, while Ravel’s mesmerising Bolero builds to a thrilling climax that will stick in your head for weeks.

Exciting young Western Sydney composer Holly Harrison matches that energy in Hi-Vis, drawing on elements of electronic dance music, brass fanfares and disco to recreate the energy and sounds of suburban life.

SYDNEY SYMPHONY FAMILY EVENTS

Live orchestral music has the power to transport us to faraway lands, to see great beasts in our mind’s eye, to shiver in an icy wind or bask in a warm sun.

Our Family Events will fire the imagination of the young people in your life through storytelling and vibrant live performance.

With concerts at the Sydney Opera House Concert Hall and Coliseum Theatre, we are bringing the magic of music to more children than ever before.

CARNIVAL OF THE ANIMALS

What better way to introduce children to the sounds of the orchestra than Saint-Saëns’ beloved Carnival of the Animals? With plodding double-bass elephants, pecking piano-and-string hens and graceful cello swans, this piece has all the fun and fascination of a trip to the zoo. Alex Turley’s Animalia adds an Australian twist, weaving familiar sounds of our unique wildlife into a magical companion piece.

We are pleased to offer a relaxed performance of this program for audiences with autism or sensory sensitivities. With a smaller audience and adjusted lighting it is perfect for anyone who would enjoy a more relaxed performance environment.

FORCES OF NATURE

The natural world has inspired artists, writers and composers for centuries. But rarely has it been captured more vividly than in Vivaldi’s Four Seasons: the warm glow of summer, the biting winds of winter, the soft descent of autumn and the bursting joy of spring.

300 years after Vivaldi, contemporary composer Max Richter reimagined these iconic works, stripping them down to their essence to reveal new sounds and bring familiar ones back into clearer view.

It’s the perfect centrepiece for this concert, which will inspire primary-aged listeners and have them hearing the world around them with new ears.

OUR LEARNING & ENGAGEMENT PROGRAMS

The power of live music can be life-changing. But that power is not limited to concert halls – it is everywhere that music is heard, from classrooms to regional town halls to aged care facilities.

SOUNDS
CURIOSITY

The Sydney Symphony Orchestra’s reimagined and expanded Learning & Engagement programs strengthen a love of music throughout our communities.

Through a wide range of activities, we are providing opportunities for the next generation of orchestral musicians, inspiring young listeners and making the live music experience accessible to as many broad and diverse audience groups as possible.

EXPANDING OUR SCHOOLS PROGRAM

Our schools program reaches over 15,000 students and teachers every year, encompassing over 20 concerts and events at the Sydney Opera House and venues in Western Sydney and regional New South Wales.

Since 2025 our Soundbridge program has linked vibrant and diverse schools in inner-city Sydney with the Sydney Symphony through a tailored program of engagement, including free concert tickets, transport and in-school workshops.

In 2026 our Tuned Up! Teacher Professional Development program returns to help equip generalist primary teachers with the skills to confidently bring music into their classrooms.

Our annual program of student workshops is also expanding in 2026, with a special workshop day with Anna Lapwood and an inspiring day for young string players offered alongside our much-loved Playerlink and Young Musicians Workshop.

Visit sydneyssymphony.com/learning or contact us for more information.

FELLOWSHIP PROGRAM

For close to 25 years our award-winning Fellowship program has been accelerating the careers of the finest young Australian musicians. Through invaluable mentoring, professional development and performance opportunities, we are producing better, well-rounded musicians and ensuring a bright future for classical orchestral music.

In 2026 we will add a conducting position to our Fellowship for the first time and continue working with the Australian Conducting Academy towards the goal of having more Australian conductors at the helm of major orchestras within the next twenty years.

REGIONAL TOURING

The Sydney Symphony Orchestra’s commitment to taking music to the towns and cities of New South Wales stretches back to 1938. In 2026 we are excited to continue that legacy and commitment to the accessibility and enjoyment of live symphonic music across the state.

In addition to concert performances, our Regional Touring program also involves performances and workshops for families and schools, providing invaluable access to unforgettable live music experiences and instilling a love of classical music at a young age.

Visit sydneyssymphony.com to find the latest details and announcements about our Regional Touring in 2026.

MUSIC FOR HEALTH

Our Music For Health program brings the joy and power of music to those who may not otherwise have access to live performances.

For over ten years we have been delivering performances to aged care homes, hospitals and children with additional needs, continually expanding our reach to bring concerts to people across our community.

These performances offer an interactive and personal experience, inspiring audiences by sharing stories about the repertoire and instruments and connecting through our shared love of music.

TACTILE TOURS AND AUSLAN INTERPRETATION

In 2026 we are offering additional services to six of our most anticipated concerts.

Designed in partnership with the Sydney Opera House, 45-minute pre-concert tactile tours and audio resources for people who are blind or have low vision provide access to the Concert Hall stage and to selected instruments to enhance their experience of three mainstage performances.

For our Listen to This series, Auslan (Australian Sign Language) interpretation is available for Deaf and hard of hearing patrons, allowing them to share in the insights and commentary offered by Conductor in Residence Benjamin Northey.
